WHY SUSTAINABILITY IS IMPORTANT TO US

With the increasing impacts of climate change, the pandemic and social injustice, sustainable development has become a global consensus. In 2015, the United Nations put forward 17 sustainable development goals, calling on all countries and global partners to take actions. In 2020, Chinese government announced on UN General Assembly that China aims to reach peak carbon emissions by 2030, and strive for carbon neutrality by 2060.

With this background and as a leading company in the industry, Syloon responds to both global and domestic calls, and is as committed as ever to the critical actions needed to tackle the environmental and societal threats. We are transforming the way we work by incorporating sustainable ideas into our product development, brand marketing, and company culture activities to ensure that every step from design and development to promotion and marketing contributes to environmental protection, human health, and social prosperity.

Meanwhile, we know that siloed approach to development would not be adequate, so we encourage and help our partners especially our suppliers to stand together with us, generating joint efforts to fulfil the goals of sustainable development and becoming future-oriented companies.

SUSTAINABILITY ON OUR R&D

We consider sustainability as one of the principles in product development and design to minimize environmental impact during the whole process. In recent years, we gradually use more and more green materials and explore innovative technologies and techniques on our products, while emphasizing on the reusability and multifunctionality of our products to reduce waste.

Currently, Syloon has developed a variety of environmentally-friendly products across multiple categories, which have been selling well in many countries around the world. Through our continuous efforts, we not only provide inspiration and convenience to our customers' project development, but also bring our end consumers into the practice of sustainable development goals.

We believe the world we want tomorrow starts with how we do business today. Through our products and services, we want to convey the value of sustainable development to our customers, and create a new green, efficient, healthy, and stylish lifestyle for global consumers.

SUSTAINABILITY ON OUR MATERIALS

We advocate and actively use sustainable green materials, including

1. Biodegradable bio-based materials such as PLA, corn pulp, sugarcane pulp, wheat straw, etc.;
2. Post-consumption recycled materials such as RABS, RPET, RPP, recycled stainless steel, recycled aluminum;
3. Renewable materials such as bamboo and wood, etc.

We will apply these materials to more products for years to come and pay attention to the versatile functions and reusable features of our products to meet the sustainable needs.
