Zen Forest: Originalhome launches its first scented candle collection

inspired by forest bathing and the art of mindful living

Originalhome has launched its first collection of plant-based scented candles, inspired by forest bathing and committed to sustainability and social impact.

Originalhome, the sustainable home décor brand, presents Zen Forest: its first collection of plant-based scented candles. The collection captures today's growing demand for wellness in design, combining ritual, sustainability, and social impact.

ZEN FOREST: A SENSORY JOURNEY INSPIRED BY SHINRIN-YOKU

Drawing inspiration from the Japanese practice of forest bathing, the new Zen Forest Collection brings the restorative qualities of nature into everyday life. The fragrance blends the scents of dewy moss, fresh spruce, ivory birch, warming clove and smoky black tea. This composition is designed to ground the senses, release tension and restore clarity.

Zen Forest is more than just a candle; it is a ritual of self-care, offering a way to pause, breathe and find balance in daily life.

Available in three sizes and four colours, the versatile, gift-ready pieces in this collection bring calm and atmosphere to any space.

Zen Forest is designed to provide a worry-free wellness experience. The candles are hand-poured from a blend of coconut wax, and contain lead-free cotton wicks, natural pigments and essential oil-based scents. They are vegan, cruelty-free, phthalate-free and petroleum-free, ensuring a cleaner burn for your home and your health.

CANDLES WITH IMPACT: GOOD FOR PEOPLE AND THE PLANET!

Zen Forest candles have a strong focus on wellness. Each candle is handmade by female artisans in Indonesia, ensuring they receive fair wages and work in dignified conditions. Every purchase also supports Trees for the Future, with a tree being planted for farmers in Africa to help them restore land, improve soil health, and strengthen food security.

By choosing Zen Forest candles, consumers can express their values through meaningful gifting by combining ethical craftsmanship, social empowerment, and environmental action.
