

TEUN ZWETS X MAISON DEUX

Maison Deux and Teun Zwets team up for a Brand-New Rug & Textile Collection

Amsterdam, July 2025 — During Paris Design Week this 4 - 8 September, Maison Deux and designer Teun Zwets proudly unveil their collaborative concept: The Splitted Suite, a soft construct. This immersive installation at Maison et Objet Paris transforms Zwets' acclaimed Splitted Collection into a tactile hotel experience—where sculptural furniture and playful textiles merge in a suite full of unexpected comfort and expressive form.

The Splitted Suite as a living installation

At the heart of The Splitted Suite lies the dialogue between hard and soft, structure and spontaneity. Teun Zwets' handcrafted furniture pieces—known for their raw, intuitive forms—are recontextualized alongside Maison Deux's vibrant collection of rugs, throws, and cushions. The result is a unique interior experience that captures the signature energy of Zwets' objects while enveloping them in the cheerful softness and color-led aesthetic Maison Deux is known for.

The space is more than a styled room—it's a living installation. Irregular contours from the furniture echo into the textile designs, translated through color blocking, layered textures, and tactile contrasts. Together, the two creative forces have crafted a suite that feels bold and sculptural, yet playful and inviting—a true "soft construct."

From Splitted Furniture to Splitted Softs

The collaboration also marks the debut of the Splitted Softs collection by Maison Deux—a new line of rugs, throws, and cushions that brings the aesthetic of Zwets' Splitted Collection into the realm of soft furnishings. Inspired by the broken lines and layered forms of the original furniture pieces, the Splitted Softs collection explores tactility through geometry, combining bold color blocking with rich textures. This extension of the Splitted concept into textiles further blurs the boundary between art object and interior comfort. Designed to mix, match, and surprise, the pieces add a joyful yet graphic softness to any space.

The Designer behind the Splitted Collection

Teun Zwets is a Dutch designer celebrated for his intuitive and spontaneous design process. His work blurs the line between functionality and art. His signature Splitted Collection combines rough, raw forms with playful expression. Zwets' work has been showcased internationally and is part of a new wave of collectible Dutch design.

About Teun Zwets

Teun Zwets (1992) is a Dutch designer who prefers to work without a fixed plan. His approach is characterized by spontaneity, intuition, and a hefty dose of boldness. In 2020, he graduated from the Design Academy Eindhoven with his project Teunland, a colorful and surprising collection of furniture made from found materials.

What makes Teun unique is his unguarded way of designing: he dives into his workshop and lets himself be guided by what he encounters. His creations often arise from impulsive discoveries and unexpected material combinations. This freedom results in pieces full of energy and playfulness, where he finds beauty in things others might overlook.

Teun loves grand gestures and striking colors. His work feels like a celebration of shapes and textures, where imperfection plays a key role in the design. This approach earned him the Kazerne Design Award in 2021 and exhibitions during events such as Dutch Design Week in Eindhoven and Salone del Mobile at Rossana Orlandi in Milan.
