CONFERENCE TABLES

WITH INTEGRATED POWER AND MEDIA MODULE

A conference table by Mott opens up new possibilities for meetings & conferences. Laptop, tablet or smartphone can effortlessly be supplied with power. In the paperless, digital age innovative solutions are in high demand - Mott provides modern conference tables, which are also optically attractive.

A power supply can be integrated in the tabletop as a highlight. The use of mobile devices is thus quite simple - without annoying tangled cables.

The beauty of it: the individual modules per meeting table can be connected to each other easily. You only need a single power connection if several tables stand next to each other.

The electrified folding table is quickly set up. With the practical connections, the table can be used individually and variably.

BACKFLIP

BackFlip is integrated into the tabletop flush with the surface. A light tap is all it takes for the element to rotate upwards. Now two sockets and a USB charger are provided. The built-in element BackFlip impresses with an elegant, matt-black look.

FLIPTOP PUSH

FlipTop Push can be installed almost flush with the surface of the conference table. The configurable connection strip opens with a gentle push on the cover. When open, it offers power, data and multimedia connections. Just as easily the bar disappears again, even if the cables are still connected.

SLIDING LID

The design sliding lid shows a timeless, elegant look. A power socket and a USB charger are concealed under the sliding lid. If desired, the sliding lid can be equipped with a charging coil for the wireless charging of smartphones.

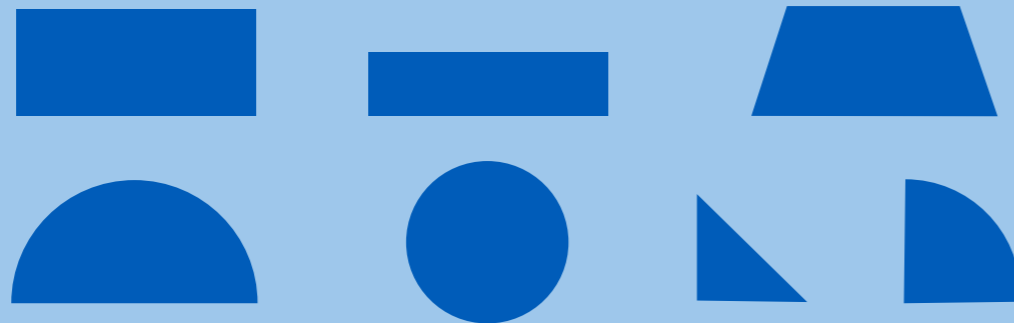

Further modules in other versions are available on request - also for different countries with different mains connections.
