CONCEPT

Worldwide Exposure

Operating in over 60 countries worldwide, Concept is ideally placed to work with customers to keep abreast of market changes and share best practice - Concept prides itself on being at the forefront of delivering innovative technologies and products.

A continuous product development programme searches for new solutions, ensuring brand users get the very best performance from our products... products that work successfully across a range of market, environmental and climatic conditions from Iceland and Australia to Sweden and Kuwait.

Concept Head Office Training School

We have upgraded our Training School with the latest electronic technology to provide a live interactive platform between our technical support team and our worldwide distribution partners.

New lighting, cameras and two-way video conferencing equipment provide the ability to transfer product knowledge and technical expertise across all brands, showcasing the full portfolio of products in both dry bay and wet bay areas.

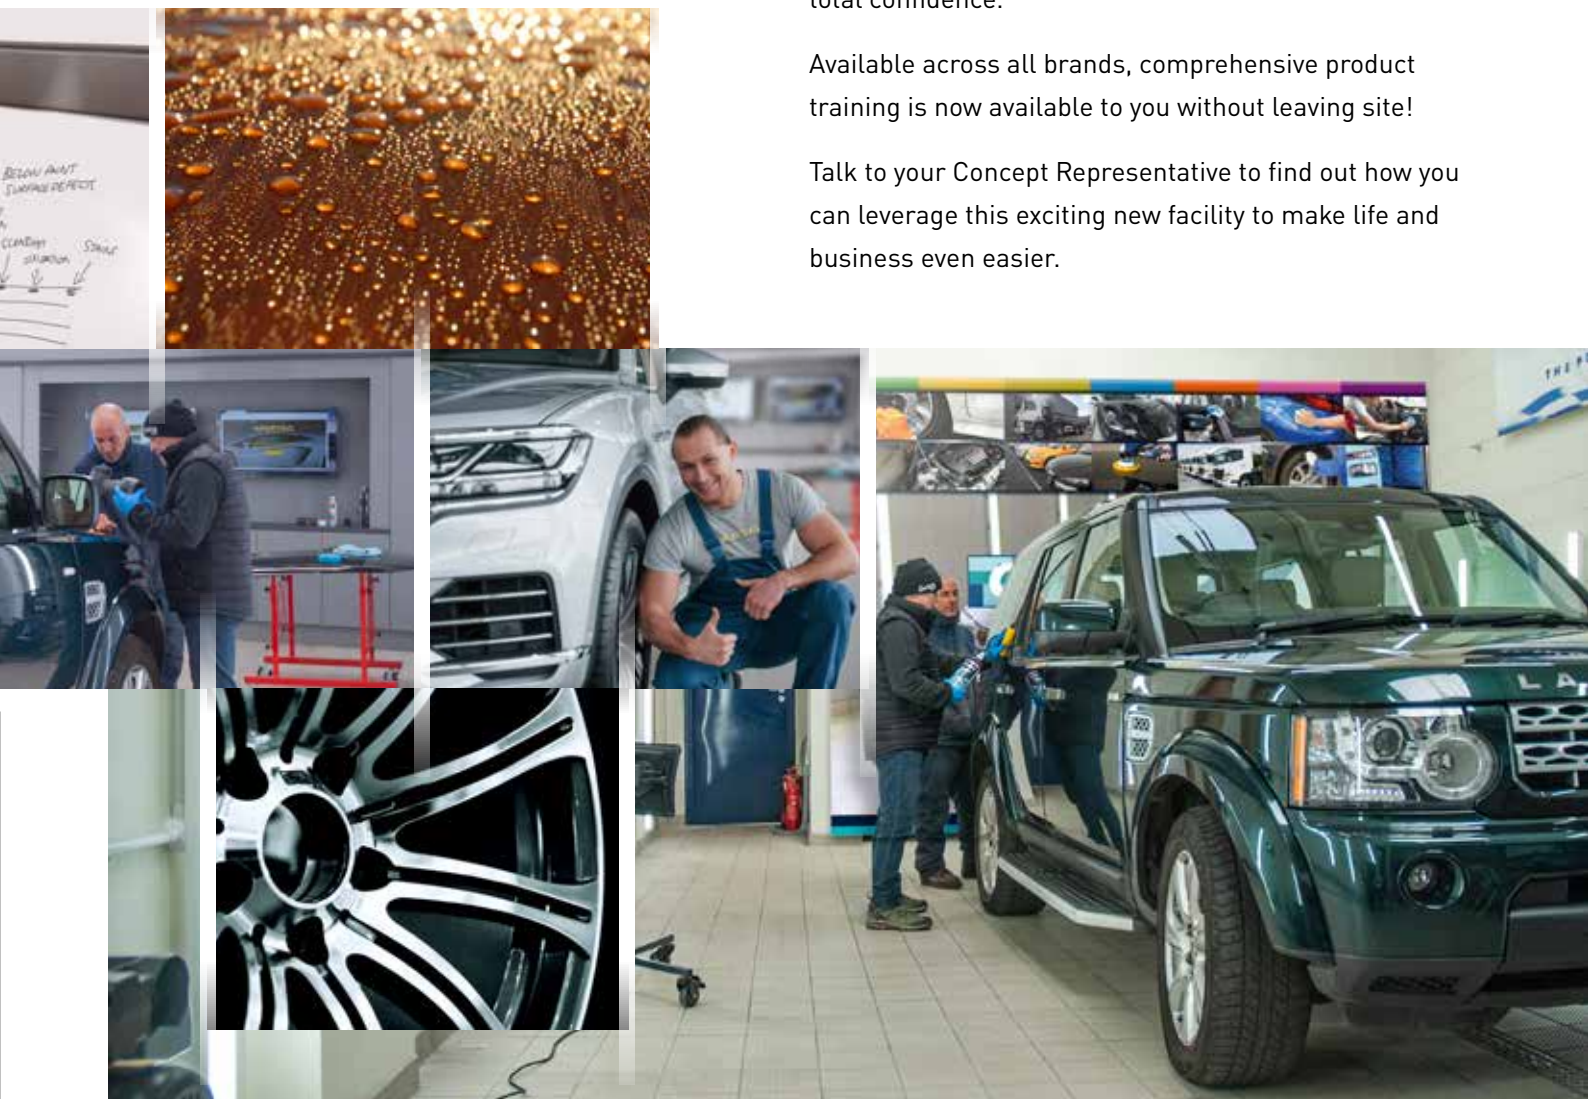

With the newly installed video equipment, the Training School has the ability to offer live, interactive video training, enabling customers to really see products in action close-up – and learn at a distance.

The Training Centre is also used for new product testing, and doubles as an extension to our laboratory facility, enabling new products to be tested and evaluated under controlled conditions, ensuring end users will always get the very best products from Concept to satisfy the specific market requirements and customer needs.

The newly refurbished Concept Training School reinforces the importance of essential product knowledge and expertise, allowing sales personnel and trainers to present Concept products to end users with total confidence.

Available across all brands, comprehensive product training is now available to you without leaving site!

Talk to your Concept Representative to find out how you can leverage this exciting new facility to make life and business even easier.

XPERT-60

Professional technology – everyday use:

Across Europe, XPERT-60 is used by a variety of people - from professional detailers who prepare such cars as Lamborghinis, Ferraris and Porsches for their owners, right through to the custom and classic car enthusiasts.

Borne from the recognition that detailers and enthusiasts deserve only the best, XPERT-60 is the creation of Concept Chemicals & Coatings - a British company that specialises in the manufacture of automotive and transport cleaning and conditioning chemicals for the professional user throughout the world.

XPERT-60 products are carefully chosen from Concept's Professional Program of Chemical Solutions. They are already in use by the professional/trade markets - by new and used vehicle dealerships, import centres, crash repair centres, transport/haulage and OEM Tier 2 suppliers.

None of the XPERT-60 products are re-formulations or adapted in any way - they must work effectively in the professional market before they are chosen for the brand. This tangible proof of professional effectiveness is a cornerstone of the brand's values.

Bringing Concept know-how to smaller pack sizes, XPERT-60 is the brand for enthusiasts who are passionate about achieving the ultimate quality of finish on their vehicles - only previously accessible to the professional.

And they all agree on one thing...

XPERT-60 is the best.
