RUBBER PROFILES

Rubber profiles are utilized in the automotive industry for weather stripping, sealing doors, windows, and trunks. Apart from preventing rainwater and dust from entering the vehicle cabin, rubber extrusions/profiles serve various purposes such as noise control, vibration control, and decorative trim.

MALCORP offers an extensive selection of rubber extrusions/profiles, including U-channels, P-profiles, and other unique shapes. The use of EPDM rubber ensures high-quality weather stripping for the automotive industry.
