

3L Tex Co., Ltd. was founded in 2009, is a leading producer for technical/smart yarn & textiles.

With a large number of patented product design and technological innovations, advanced professional manufacturing and testing equipment of fiber twisting, covering, coating, textile coating weaving knitting etc. we specialized in researching, developing, producing, processing of yarn, fabric, textiles made of silver fiber, stainless steel fiber, FeCrAl, aramid, PBO, tinned copper, glass fiber etc. With a group of stable high quality production management personnel and skilled production technology backbone, we ensure that our technology and product innovation are increasingly perfect.

Our technical textiles can be widely applied in protective clothing and textile, shielding, high temperature, heating, thermal conductive, automobile industries, glass industry, military, medical, robotics, aerospace, and industrial cable and special wire and cable applications.

Company's management and engineers always focus on product innovative designs and quality improvement which continuously incorporate the needs of our customers, so can design and develop exclusive products according to customers' special request and special application fields.

3L Tex takes customer's requirements to strictly control every production step and inspection process, and provide high quality products and services as its own responsibility !