Knives for the Food Industry

The food industry uses a wide variety of knives to process and pack products to meet the demands of customers and local regulations. Durham-Duplex specialises in the manufacture of knives used in the food processing & packaging industry including circular, straight and other shaped blades.

Durham-Duplex is a fully ISO 9001:2018 certified manufacturer based in Sheffield, England with over 110 years history of making industrial blades and machine knives for use in all aspects of industry. The company is international, holding inventory in Aurora Illinois, Brussels Belgium, and Amata City Thailand. This global reach along with its' range of processing and packaging blades, makes Durham-Duplex the perfect partner for your cutting edge requirements.

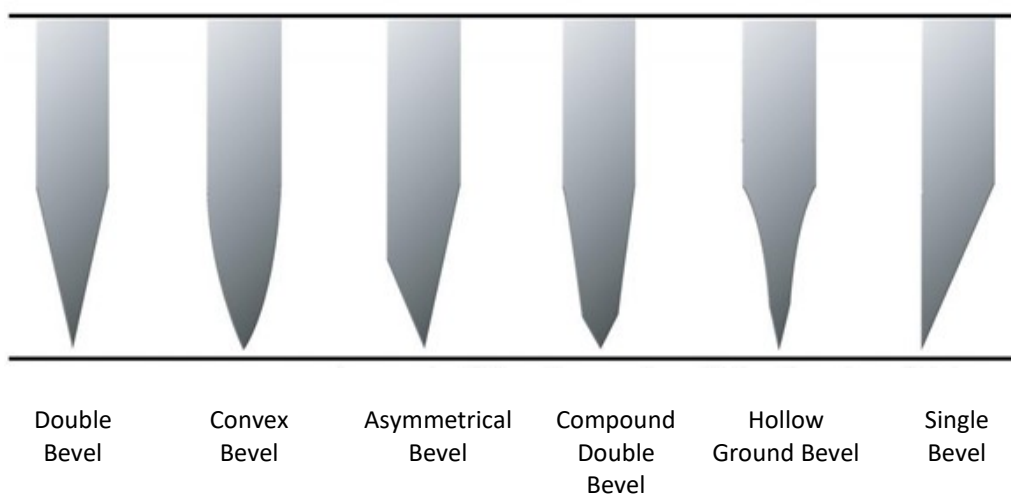

The demands of the food industry require an extra special touch. Be it processing or packaging food products, customers require blades with clean, sharp edges and often traceability. To help achieve these industry standards Durham-Duplex offers the highest grades of magnetic stainless steel and high chrome tool steels across the majority of our machine knife range.

The full design and build capability of the company coupled with the skills of the Sheffield knife makers ensure that our parts are held to high standards with the assured consistency expected from ISO 9001.
