

Reusable period underwear is becoming popular as a safe and more sustainable option than other menstrual products. These undergarments are crafted with absorbent layers to ensure good coverage and are soft on the skin, eliminating the chances of rashes and skin irritation that can result from pads. They can be washed, reused, and reduced in waste, which makes them an eco-friendly menstrual care product. Most women wear them on a daily basis, and the added advantage is that they keep the air flowing better than synthetic pads, making you feel comfortable.

Period underwear is one of the best period products, as it may be particularly beneficial to women with sensitive skin or anyone who wants a safer and more long-term approach to menstrual health.

PEESAFE cotton reusable period panty is for women who want hygienic and comfortable menstrual care. It is made of breathable cotton to reduce rashes and irritation, and is leak-proof to withstand heavy flow days. This reusable menstrual panty can be worn up to 60 times, which is beneficial for maintaining reproductive health sustainably and keeping skin healthy. It's a natural fit that makes you feel comfortable during periods while maintaining hygiene and confidence.