

FEBEST maintains customer satisfaction from the supplier to the consumer.

FEBEST is one of the leaders in the independent aftermarket of rubber-to-metal parts for Japanese and Korean passenger cars. Meanwhile, FEBEST also produces parts for European and American cars. FEBEST group operates on four continents with the dealers integrated into our distribution system all over the world. In Europe we have official dealers in 33 countries. FEBEST parts are known for oftentimes being the only alternative to the budget unfriendly OE equivalents. We work to supply local markets with in-demand and reliable spare parts and maintain mutually beneficial partnerships with automotive parts dealers and retailers.

Car repair for less money

This is what every car owner wants. And that is exactly what we are pleased to offer. We develop, produce and supply spare parts to replace the ones that wear out more often due to their heavy duty operation. That is why the FEBEST components are in high demand among car owners and repair services. And there is something else that turns your clients into loyal customers. The vast majority of FEBEST parts are sold separately from their unitized assemblies. This way the worn part can be replaced by FEBEST component without changing the whole unit. Such repair is cost effective, time saving and altogether satisfying for a car owner.

Value we offer

Reliable quality of FEBEST products has been tested in our laboratories and proved to guarantee our customers smooth and safe driving.

To prevent corrosion of FEBEST parts we use metal surface treatment. The rubber products formula is based only on natural rubber with the use of additives that allow the parts to operate under temperatures down to -38°C. We use our own patented techniques in parts production that increase the lifespan of spare parts and enhance their anti-vibration properties. Our prices are competitive enough to benefit our partners' margins. At the same time FEBEST is a cost-effective solution for the final consumer. Eternally expanding product range As for the 1st quarter of 2022 we have over 14 340 parts that cover more than 70 000 OEM parts. Around 200 new parts are added every quarter to FEBEST catalog. Our partners receive a detailed list of new positions by email. Our largest product group - rubber to metal parts - covers entire suspension system and beyond. FEBEST expands not only the range within one category but adds on new categories of spare parts.

It's not about parts only

There is no minimum order quantity. You can check out our products ordering one item, for instance. FEBEST professional team and up-to-date distribution center technologies guarantee completing all orders in minimum time and in an accurate manner. Orders are delivered to your facilities in the shortest possible time. We cooperate with leading express services - DHL Express, TNT, ACE/Dachser, DPD and Venipak. The guarantee period for FEBEST products is 2 years or 30 000 km. What if you need to return parts back to supplier? No worries. We accept returns twice a year.
