Before you purchase a brush

Please study the information on this page and the next page. We've attempted to answer the most commonly asked questions about brushes to help you select the brush that will produce the most satisfying results.

SINOART Brush Hair

The material used to form the tuft of a brush that picks up and spreads the paint is the most important part of the brush, and determines the performance and the price of the brush. There are distinct advantages of both natural and synthetic hairs.

NATURAL or animal hair is a by-product of the food and fur industries, no animals are destroyed for the purpose of brush making. It has superior paint-holding ability because of tiny, microscopic "scales" along the shaft of the hair. Price and performance of a natural hair brush is determined by the "grade" of animal it was taken from, and the availability of its hair. Shorter-length hair is more readily available, making the longer lengths more expensive. Natural hair may be used alone (pure) or blended with other hairs or synthetic filaments to achieve a combination of performance and price.

SYNTHETICS are man-made of either nylon or polyester filaments. They can be tapered, tipped, abraded or etched to increase color carrying ability. Often, synthetic filaments are dyed and baked to make them softer and more absorbent. The common name for this filament is "Taklon." The advantages to using synthetic brushes are:

- 1 They are less prone to damage from solvents, insects or paints.
- 2 They are easier to keep clean than animal hair brushes because the filaments don't have animal scale structures to trap paint.
- 3 They are less prone to breakage and are durable on many different surfaces.
- 4 They are better suited for painting with acrylics because a synthetic filament will withstand the caustic nature of acrylic paints with less damage.

F.Y.I. For the protection of the hairs, most brushes are treated with a water-soluble sizing. This should be removed by thoroughly washing with brush soap and water or special brush care products before use.

NAME/SHAPE	DESCRIPTION	USAGE	MEDIA	HAIR
 Round	Round ferrule, round or pointed tip. Available in a wide variety of sizes, lengths and price ranges.	Detail, wash, fills, thin to thick lines, scholastic artwork.	All media	All hair Synthetic
 Pointed Round	Narrower than a standard round. Round ferrule, sharply pointed tip. Natural hair holds a sharper point.	Fine detailing, fine lines, spotting and retouching.	All media	Sable Synthetics Pony
 Flat	Flat ferrule, square-ended. Medium to long hairs. Lots of color capacity, easy maneuverability.	Bold, sweeping strokes, on edge for fine lines. Use heavier filling for heavier paint.	All media	Sable Bristle Synthetic
 Bright	Flat ferrule, inward curved edge at the tip, short-length hairs, usually set in a long handle. Width and length of brush head is about equal.	Short, controlled strokes. Useful with thick or heavy color.	Oil Acrylic Decorative	Sable Bristle Synthetic
 Filbert	Thick, flat ferrule and oval-shaped, medium to long hairs. Long handles. Natural hair is more suitable for blending because the hairs hold together when wet.	Soft, rounded edges, blending, figurative work.	Oil Acrylic Decorative	Sable Bristle Synthetic
 Egbert	Flat ferrule, oval shaped tip, longest springy hairs for more color carrying capacity than filbert. Long handles.	Soft, rounded edges, blending, figurative work.	Oil Acrylic Decorative	Bristle
 Fan	Flat ferrule, spread hairs. Natural hair is more suitable for soft blending, and Synthetic works well for textural effects.	Smoothing and blending, special effects and textures.	Oil, Wtrclr. Acrylic Decorative	Bristle Synthetic
 Script/Liner	Round ferrule, pointed, narrow brush with very long hair. Liners are hair. Liners are shorter & narrower. Short handles, round ferrules. Large color carrying capacity.	Delicate lettering, highlighting, outlining, long continuous strokes.	Watercolor Decorative Ink Sign Paint	Sable Synthetic
 Full-bellied Round	Round or triangular ferrule, extra fat for color carrying capacity. Extra long point. Short handle.	Lettering, outlining, long, continuous strokes.	Watercolor Decorative Ink	Sable Synthetic Pony
 Detail Round	Round ferrule Shorter in length than all other rounds but holds a lot of color. Short handle.	Detail painting, short strokes.	Watercolor, Oil, Acrylic	Sable Pony
 Wash/Mop	Wash brushes come in varied shapes. The oval wash has rounded hairs, flat ferrules and produces a soft edge, with no point. The square wash can produce varying shapes and widths, and often has a short, "flat-footed" handle for scraping, burnishing and separating watercolor paper from blocks. The mop brush is a round, full version of the wash brush, made of soft, absorbent natural hair.	Laying in large areas of water or color, wetting, absorbing.	Watercolor	Squirrel Bristle Synthetic Pony

brush hair

SINOART offers a large selection of natural hair brushes and choosing the hair that best suits your purpose can save you time, money and trouble. One rule that you can follow to avoid disappointment is to buy the best-quality hair that you can afford.

kolinsky sable — is not really from a sable at all, but comes from the tail of a species of mink that is a member of the weasel family found in Siberia and northeastern China. It is generally conceded to be the best material for oil and watercolor brushes due to its strength, spring and ability to retain its shape (“snap”). It holds a very fine point or edge. This is considered a professional grade of hair, and if properly cared for, Kolinsky will last for many years.

red sable — is obtained from any member of the weasel family with “red” hair — not at all from the animal known as the sable. It is found in a variety of brush styles for many varied mediums, with quality and characteristics varying greatly. A good-quality pure Red Sable is a good alternative to the more expensive Kolinsky, with similar performance and durability. Often, weasel hair is blended with ox hair to make a more economical brush, but the fine point is sacrificed.

squirrel hair — gray squirrel, most highly in demand for lettering brushes and quills, is native to Russia and nearly always in short supply. Brown squirrel is more readily available, and is used mainly for medium-quality and scholastic watercolor brushes. A very fine, thin hair, taken from squirrel tails, it points as well as Kolinsky, but has very little “snap” (or memory) because the hair is not very resilient. It works best with liquid paints and inks.

pony hair — soft but strong, from mature animals at least 2 years of age. It is primarily used for scholastic-grade brushes, but often blended with other hairs for inexpensive watercolor and touch-up brushes. Pony hair lacks “snap” (or memory) and will not return to a point after a brush stroke.

camel hair — does not come from camels at all. It is found in watercolor and lettering brushes and usually made of squirrel, goat, ox, pony or a blend of several hairs, depending on the desired softness and intended cost of the brush. Camel hair lacks “snap” (or memory) and will not return to a point after a brush stroke.

hog bristle — obtained from hogs in several parts of the world, the most sought-after coming from China. Bristle is unlike any other natural filler in that it forms a V-shaped split or “flag” at the tip and tends to have a natural curve. The best grade has “interlocked” bristles, with the curves formed inward to the ferrule, has a natural resistance to fraying and spreads medium to thick paints smoothly and evenly. A selection of pure hog bristle brushes is recommended for oil, and is a far less expensive alternative to good-quality softer hairs.

How to measure a brush

To be most accurate, measure brushes according to the following:

length — the distance from the edge of the ferrule out to the tip of the hair in the center of the brush.

diameter — the distance of the hair at the opening of the ferrule.

width — the distance across the hair above the opening of the ferrule.

Measure brushes while they are dry. Width is not the width of paint stroke that the brush will make. The width of a brush stroke will vary according to the amount of pressure used, the angle at which the brush is held, the media used and the flexibility of the brush hair.

The charts should help you to determine the size brush you need to purchase. If you would like to measure a brush you already own, use the charts this way:

- 1). Lay your brush on the line so that the line is just above the edge of the ferrule. Use vertical line to measure width or diameter, horizontal line to measure length. Check each side to be sure it lies straight.
- 2). Do not apply pressure or tilt to the brush. Brush hair should not be spread.
- 3). Follow the line over to read the measurement, or, if it falls between two lines, move on to the next chart with smaller increments until you find the exact measurement.

Measure width or diameter of brush from right edge of chart (example: brush in lower right corner measures 7/16" wide)

Measure length of brush from the bottom of chart (example: brush at left measures 7/8" long)
