OUR PATH TO SUSTAINABILITY

For us, sustainability is not a fuzzy concept - and it's much more than just a fad. As consumers, we all affect climate change and the environment with our behaviours. In this light, we feel a particular responsibility as a producer of cosmetics. However, we don't necessarily have to go without the things that are important to us. With our products, we reach enthusiastic customers in studios around the world and we are constantly working on further developments. We take our customers' orders seriously and are aware of our responsibility as a producer, as we increasingly focus on sustainability - in every step of production:

- ✓ Where possible, we use vegan ingredients because they have the least impact on resources and the environment. The bio-peptides in our cosmetics are primarily based on renewable resources (clover, mung beans, peas), the cultivation of which benefits insects.
- ✓ We value animal welfare. A few non-vegan ingredients are derived from products that are directly or indirectly associated with livestock farming. In these, we expect humane conditions appropriate to the species.
- ✓ Certification of our suppliers: The printing on the packaging, the manufacturer of the bottle, pencils and labels - these are now virtually all certified as using sustainable and environmentally friendly production methods.
- ✓ Recycling: Empty cosmetic containers will soon be allowed in collection bins. The online shop will soon offer free returns of containers rewarded with discounts.
- ✓ Renewable energy and materials: The roof of our company has a photovoltaic system that generates electricity. When we fill and ship our products, we avoid the use of plastics and any disposable materials.
