Quality from Germany

MORE THAN 90 YEARS OF EXPERIENCE

Something special – This has been our principle for more than 90 years. To us, Fakir does not only offer cleanliness, care and comfort, yet more importantly, it represents a complete well-being programme for your home.

Fakir's success story was first started by Wilhelm Kicherer in the 30s in Mühlacker where floor cleaning machines and appliances were manufactured.

Fakir – an acronym for “Family Kicherer” – soon became a synonym for high-quality and innovative technology in the field of home appliances. During the expansion of the company in the 50s, electric heating appliances for household use were added to the production programme. In 1978, in a step of forward looking planning the management acquired new, large premises in Vaihingen/Enz.

Part of the production was moved from Mühlacker to the new premises because the original factory in the town center had to give way to the redesigned town center where the Mühlehof cultural and shopping center was then built. This spatial expansion went hand in hand with an innovative development of the company. Fakir met the challenges of a growing European market and rapid changes in technology with its high quality products, thus creating an unmistakable profile marked by quality. Even today, this development is carried forward by the innovative planning of the company management, intensive research in the development and the company's highly motivated and qualified staff.

Today, Fakir's product portfolio includes floor cleaning, floor care, heating appliances, small appliances and the product lines ventilation/air conditioners, as well as appliances for a healthy well-being.

Electrostatic air filters extract allergens and pollutants from the air with the help of electrostatic energy. It removes significantly more allergens and pollutants than any other type of filter, as it can remove even the smallest particles from the air. Technology so far only available in special high-quality air filters.

- Direct adjustment on the handle
- On/off function for switching-off in standby mode
- Power regulation simply by pressing a button and rapid adaptation to the types of floorings.

Hypo Clean

Hygiene Generator

Whether for the removal of unpleasant odours or the effective cleaning of sensitive surfaces such as leather or plants: Fakir Hypo Clean converts water into a natural, disinfecting cleaning agent in less than 1 minute.

- High quality electrolysis system: the high quality electrolysis system splits the salt supplied with the appliance. The resulting solution (sodium hypochlorite) is a natural and biological disinfectant.
- 3-layer electrode technology: thanks to the 3-layer electrode technology, consisting of one iridium and two titanium electrodes Hypo Clean generates a continuously constant concentration and qualitative solution with high corrosion resistance.
- Natural disinfectant generator: with the high / low function the salt concentration of the disinfectant can be varied.
- Simplest operation: the innovative spray head and the integrated start / stop function enable a easy handling of the cleaning device. Just pour in water, add a measuring spoon of salt, shake & let's go!
