*Be Remarkable,
Be Different*

Painting is another artistic skill that has many different techniques. The use of brushes is one of the tools that can be used to create a variety of art. By choosing the brush head, applying weight, springing the brush as well as the angles of different brushes can creates works of art that give different feelings and emotions.

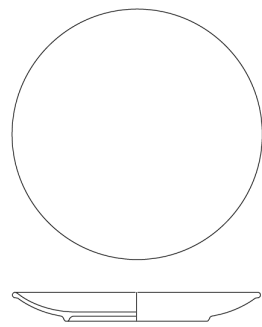

PATRA Porcelain has applied such techniques to create pieces of art to the newest tableware collection, HELIX. This collection uses the brushes technique to paint around in circle until it forms a spiral pattern and has unique threads in each piece. The collection colors will make the food stand out and create the ultimate dining experience.
