RADIATOR / CONDENSER ASS'Y

KOYORAD radiator cooling performance is comparable to OE radiator and up to 25% better performance to other after-market brands.

KOYORAD can achieve this performance due to the adherence to OE specifications in R&D phase and production.

The wind tunnel test result on the left shows the efficiency of KOYORAD radiator as compared to OE and other brands. Horizontal axis represents wind speed (m/s) of car while vertical axis represents heat dissipation (kcal/h) from the radiator. Knowledge gathered from 65 years in the industry allows us to make optimum design on the fin louvers which inturn creates optimum air flow through the radiator. The usage of material with equivalent specification to OE provides another advantage that shape up the result of this wind tunnel test.

KOYORAD radiator and condenser are proven reliable and efficient cooling performance to meet your needs. We exceed your expectation.
