

STEINEL has the expertise - everything from a single source!

Together with and for our customers, we develop innovative products, advise and accompany them as a one-stop-shop partner from the idea to market launch, industrialize and manufacture – all from a single source. With sensor technology, communication, low power management and approval management as expertise in the field of product development, STEINEL develops customer-specific product applications and customized solutions.

Product Development

- Design & feasibility study
- Electronics & mechanics
- Prototypes
- Packaging concept
- Assembly & testing concept
- Tooling & equipment
- Approval management

Industrialization

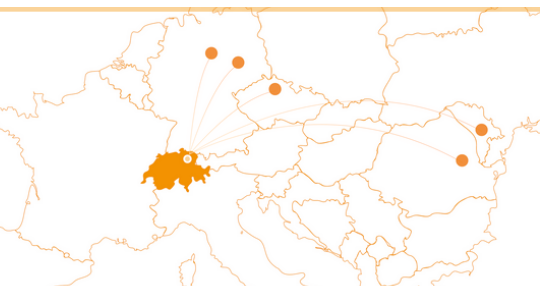

New Product Introduction (NPI) starts with prototype development and product-specific requirements of a technical and commercial nature, so that subsequent production can be as efficient, high-quality and flexible as possible.

Production

We manufacture high-quality electronic modules and convince with pioneering plastics technology, efficient assembly and a wide range of special processes.

- ISO9001 | ISO14001
- Authorized Economic Operator (AEO)
- BSCI

Thanks to its membership to the STEINEL Group, STEINEL Solutions has access to a Europe-wide network.

Depending on the product life cycle and market success, it is therefore possible to scale up quickly and adequately and expand series assembly of large volume products to additional sites in Germany, the Czech Republic, Romania and Moldova.

Your advantages at a glance

Scalability, single point of contact, reduction of complexity and interfaces, shortened supply chain, agility, Made in Europe. If we have common values, successful solutions and functioning products are created and together we achieve success on the market. Let us shape the future together!

References

Thanks to our extensive service portfolio, we count companies from a wide range of industries among our customers, including well-known market leaders and also numerous hidden champions. Whether large or small, traditional company or start-up - we are your competent partner, also for cutting-edge topics!

Take a look at our corporate film:

Do you have an idea or a product? Do you recognize synergies or opportunities?

Our contact persons are looking forward to hearing from you!

